Information on processing of personal data

This page describes how to manage this website in relation to the processing of personal data of users who consult them.

This is information given in accordance with the current legislation on personal data for users who interact with the services of this website in the framework of the 2016/679 EU Regulation. The information is relevant only for this website and not for other websites that may be consulted by the user through our links.

The holder of the data processing

Following consultation of the site, data relating to identified or identifiable persons may be processed. The "holder" of the processing is VET International srl - VAT number and tax code 10912680963 - with registered offices in Via Carlo Farini 81, 20159 Milan and Via Marchesi, 26D – 43126 Parma, Italy.

Place of data processing

The processing connected to the web services are handled exclusively by the technical staff in our company that are in charge of the processing operations, or by persons involved in occasional maintenance operations. No data collected from the web service will be communicated or disseminated to others.

The Purpose of the processing and legal basis of the processing

The personal data provided by users who request or intend to use services or products offered through the website as well as receiving further specific content is used only to respond to the requested services or information and are disclosed to third parties only in the case where this is necessary for this purpose. The legal basis of the processing is the necessity to give feedback to the requests of the interested parties or to carry out activities foreseen by the agreements defined with the interested parties.

Apart from these examples, the users' browsing data are kept for the time strictly necessary for the management of processing activities within the limits established by law.

Types of data processed

Navigation data

The computer systems and software procedures used to operate the website acquire, during their normal operation, some personal data whose transmission is implicit in the use of Internet communication protocols. This is information that is not collected to be associated with identified interested parties, but which by their very nature could, through processing and association with data held by third parties, allow users to be identified. This category of data includes IP addresses or domain names of the computers used by users connecting to the site, the addresses in the Uniform Resource Identifier (URI) notation of the requested resources, the time of the request, the method used to submit the request to the server, the size of the file obtained in response, the numerical code indicating the status of the response given by the server (success, error, etc.) and other parameters relating to the operating system and the user's computer environment. This data is used for the sole purpose of obtaining anonymous statistical information on the use of the site and to check its correct functioning and are deleted after processing. The data could be used to ascertain responsibility in case of hypothetical computer crimes against the website.

Data provided voluntarily by the user

The optional, explicit and voluntary sending of e-mails to the addresses indicated on the website entails the subsequent acquisition of the sender's address, which is necessary to respond to requests, as well as any other personal data included in the message. Specific summary information will be progressively reported or displayed on the pages of the website prepared for particular services on request.

Cookies

Cookies means a textual element that is inserted into the hard disk of a computer only after authorization. Cookies have the function to streamline the analysis of web traffic or to indicate when a specific site is visited and allow web applications to send information to individual users. No personal data of users is acquired by the website in this regard. We do not use cookies to transmit information of a personal nature, nor are used c.d. persistent cookies of any kind, or systems for tracking users. The use of c.d. session cookies is strictly limited to the transmission of session identifiers (consisting of random numbers generated by the server) necessary to allow the safe and efficient exploration of the site. I c.d. session cookies used on the site avoid the use of other technologies that could compromise the privacy of users' browsing and do not allow the acquisition of personal identification data.

Optional provision of data

Apart from that specified for navigation data, the user is free to provide personal data to request the services offered by the Owner. Failure to provide such data may make it impossible to obtain the requested services.

Processing methods and data retention times

Personal data is processed with automated tools for the time strictly necessary to achieve the purposes for which they were collected. Specific security measures are observed to prevent data loss, illicit or incorrect use and unauthorized access.

The data is kept for 10 years or in any case for the time necessary to pursue the purposes indicated in this statement and will be deleted at the end of this period, unless the data must be kept for legal obligations or to assert a right in judicial seat.

Communication of data to third parties

The collected data may be managed by the company limited to the purpose of providing the services requested by the user. Third-party companies will not be authorized to transfer this data to other companies, institutions or persons.

1. Associations The data collected for registrations to events organized by VET International srl will eventually be provided in an analytical way or aggregated to the Scientific no Profit Association promoter of the event.
